About This Game

Choices, The Game is a multiple choice, point and click, choose-your-own adventure game. The game has two lines of text at the top, one being the narrator and the bottom being what is happening in the scene you're in. At the bottom there's ten colored buttons with actions to choose from. Depending on your actions the story drastically changes. Between the text at the top and the ten buttons to choose from there's an image showing what's going on around you.

I really liked it, it was weird and strange. I cant click on certain buttons, so that might be a glitch or it could still be in development. It dosnet have that many endings so far though, other than that good.. If you like random humour than this game is for you :p. OMG THIS WAS AWESOME! I mean like, seriously, I went into this with 0 expectation of truly enjoying this game, opened it up, started off with some choices, all of a sudden I'm laughing all about uncontrollably at times. Of course, its still in its early stages and is far from finished, so at this point im just waiting on the rest of the game to enjoy! :D
